World Federation of Critical Care Nurses
2001-2005 Report
"Connecting Critical Care Nurses in the World"
PHILOSOPHY

The philosophy of the WFCCN is to assist critical care nursing associations and nurses regardless of age, gender, nation, colour, religious beliefs or social background in the pursuit of the objectives of the WFCCN.

PURPOSE

The purpose of the WFCCN is to link critical care nursing associations and nurses throughout the world, to strengthen the influence and contribution of critical care nurses to health care globally and to be a collective voice and advocate for critical care nurses and patients at an International level.

OBJECTIVES

1. To represent critical care nurses and critical care nursing at an International level.
2. To improve the standard of care provided to critically ill patients and their families throughout the countries of the world.
3. To advance the art and science of critical care nursing in all countries throughout the world.
4. To promote co-operation, collaboration and support for critical care nursing organisations and individuals.
5. To improve the recognition given to critical care nursing throughout the world.
6. To maintain and improve effective co-operation between all health professionals, institutions, agencies and charities who have a professional interest in the care of critically ill patients.
8. To foster and support research initiatives that advance critical care nursing and patient/family care.
9. To encourage and enhance education programs in critical care nursing throughout the world.
10. To provide conferences, written information and continuing education for critical care nurses.
The World Federation of Critical Care Nurses is fortunate to have a wonderful and dedicated Council. Through these people we are able to do much with relatively few resources at our disposal. Their enthusiasm, dedication and commitment is unquestioned and their advocacy for their respective countries, colleagues and patients has been an inspiration to me and many others who have come to know the WFCCN. These wonderful people have been a tremendous source of knowledge, wisdom, fellowship and support over the last 4 years and even prior to that when the idea of the WFCCN was only being contemplated.

Since our formation in Sydney, Australia on 30 October 2001, the WFCCN has steadily grown in number and activity. The WFCCN has now established itself as a world entity with formal Partnerships to 3 international corporate entities Code Blue Nursing Agency, Abbott laboratories, Datex Ohmeda. We now have established affiliations with the International Council of Nurses, World Federation of Societies of Intensive Care and Critical care Medicine, Asia Pacific Federation of Critical Care Nurses and the European federation of Critical Care Nursing Associations. WFCCN has also been invited to register on the Yearbook of International Organisations and a small but growing number of our representatives are acknowledged on International indices.

The partnerships and friendships that WFCCN establish are strategically important so that we can continue to strive to link and support critical care nurses of the world and to help them help the sick and vulnerable critically ill patients and their families in their communities. This is our raison d’être.

Further more the WFCCN has shown considerable leadership in the last 12 months through the development of many new activities of strategic significance including draft papers on workforce and education for critical care nurses, conference sponsorship plans for the years 2004-2009 in 6 different countries on most major continents of the world, a growing website containing useful and informative news and views and a stabilising financial position, not to mention a listing of over 20 member associations which is steadily growing.

The purpose of this report is to inform our member associations, corporate partners and the broader critical care and nursing community of what the WFCCN have achieved so far and what we hope to achieve in the following years.

Finally, I do thank my Council colleagues, the member and affiliate associations, corporate partners and the many friends and colleagues in the world who have provided sustained support and encouragement to me over the last few years. It is through our collective cooperation and contribution that the WFCCN can continue the journey towards a better world in which critical care nursing can make a positive contribution.
MESSAGE FROM THE WORLD FEDERATION OF SOCIETIES OF INTENSIVE AND CRITICAL CARE MEDICINE

Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the World Federation of Societies of Intensive and Critical Care Medicine (WFSICCM) I would like to congratulate the World Federation of Critical Care Nursing (WFCCN) on an auspicious and successful inauguration. Ultimately, international professional organizations will create the forum in which communication, collaboration and honest appraisal of results will lead to worldwide improvement in healthcare.

The WFSICCM has been intimately involved with the development of an international nursing forum and integrated nursing membership on its Council several years ago. The development of the WFCCN is a natural and desirable extension of this activity, and the WFCCN is to be recognized for undertaking this successful initiative. The collaboration between our organizations must mimic the collegial relationships between nursing and physician partners that exist in the most successful Intensive Care Units. Certainly our heritage and past performance support this relationship, and together our organizations must effectively bridge the gaps of distance, resources, language and expertise that compromise the care of many patients. Sophistication, wealth, technology and outcome do not go hand in hand; the realistic appreciation of health care goals and capabilities in different locations will provide our organizations the ability to help local providers match available care delivery with optimal outcome. The importance of strong and continuing collaboration between our two organizations is fundamental to our individual and collective success, and I anticipate that we shall be able to positively affect critical health care delivery in an important and meaningful way worldwide.

This year marks the WFSICCM’s 9th Quadrennial Symposium in Buenos Aires, Argentina on August 27-31, 2005. Our Argentinean hosts have created an excellent program that incorporates WFSICCM and WFCCN activities, and I look forward to welcoming you to your first World Congress and to participating together in a number of interesting, challenging and inclusive educational forums. It has been a privilege to participate in the inauguration of your organization. I look forward to our continued partnership, collaborative educational and research projects, integrated communication services and successful care initiatives to improve access to and implementation of therapies to critical care patients in an ethically appropriate and culturally sensitive manner worldwide.

MESSAGE FROM THE
CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER OF THE INTERNATIONAL
COUNCIL OF NURSES

The International Council of Nurses (ICN) is delighted that the World Federation of Critical Care Nurses has joined the global family of nurses as an ICN Affiliate. On behalf of the ICN Board and staff I am pleased to offer a heartfelt welcome and to congratulate WFCCN on its leadership in reaching out to nursing colleagues globally and regionally. WFCCN joins the other ICN Affiliates, including the International Federation of Nurse Anaesthetists; the International Federation of Perioperative Nurses; the International Society of Nurses in Cancer Care, and the Council of International Neonatal Nurses, as well as ICN’s 126 member National Nurses Associations, in working to unite and strengthen nursing and healthcare worldwide.

As the voice of more than 12 million nurses working across the globe, ICN understands the critical importance of both unity and leadership in nursing. The healthcare environment of the 21st century presents many challenges for nurses -- challenges that directly affect our ability to care for patients and also to care for ourselves. The global impact of HIV/AIDS, health care reform, the status of nursing in many countries, the worldwide nursing shortage, and the challenge of nurturing and supporting nurse leaders stand out as key issues, but we realize there are others specific to critical care. We know how hard you are working to improve nursing as a profession and I commend the WFCCN and critical care nurses everywhere for your commitment to providing and improving quality care for the vulnerable critically ill patients and their families. Nursing has always been about putting patients and their families first and we congratulate you for your emphasis on this.

I would also like to congratulate the WFCCN on your many achievements over the past 4 years, including papers on the workforce and education for critical care nurses, a steadily growing membership, a lively website and international conference planning. Please accept ICN’s best wishes for continued success in all future endeavours as you put patients first.

MESSAGE FROM THE EUROPEAN FEDERATION OF CRITICAL CARE NURSING ASSOCIATIONS

The European Federation of Critical Care Nursing Associations (EfCCNa) was founded in Berlin in 1999. EfCCNa has a membership of 22 associations all across Europe. EfCCNa has several objectives. These include maintaining effective co-operation between all health care professionals, who have a professional interest in the care of critically ill patients, to establish standards for education, practice and management of critical care nursing. EfCCNa also recognises the importance of support and encouragement to the world of critical care nursing and is pleased that the World Federation has been founded. EfCCNa and the WFCCN have taken the first step in working together by the online journal CONNECT and had the first joint meeting in Cambridge UK, September 2004. At the meeting there were several ideas to produce projects jointly, where it is preferable to speak with one voice. Other thoughts are chairing objectives, key projects, and exchange of good practice and position statements. It is the view of the representatives at the meeting, that it is important the wheel should not be re-invented. In the end, critically ill patients and their families are the main concern where ever in the world they are. They are the reason for the existence of critical care nursing organisations. It is the responsibility of the critical care nurses of the world to join forces and contribute to safe environment and best available treatment at all times for our clients. This supports the importance of an ongoing commitment between the two federations.

Working together – Achieving more.

On behalf of EfCCNA’s Council

Rósa Thorsteinsdóttir
(Vice-President)

MESSAGE FROM THE ASIA PACIFIC FEDERATION OF CRITICAL CARE NURSES

The Asia Pacific Federation of Critical Care Nurses (APFCCN) was launched and had the first inaugural meeting on March 1, 2003 in Manila, Philippines. The launch was participated by seven associations in the Asia Pacific region. Ged Williams, Chair of the WFCCN, was the distinguished guest during this event. The objectives of APFCCN includes advancing the art and science of critical care nursing in the Asia Pacific region, establishment of standards for education, practice and management of critical care nursing, providing and encouraging professional networking and communication among critical care nurses in the region and supporting activities for education and research. During the inaugural year, the Asia Pacific region was confronted with the challenges of SARS and has kept nursing activities focused towards care of patients afflicted with SARS and control of this devastating disease. This has slowed down the activities of the APFCCN. Currently, APFCCN is still moving to bring more members to work and attain the established objectives. Just like any region in the world, the culture and language barrier have made this task hard and slow paced. However, we are optimistic that APFCCN will unify the critical care nurses in the region, with the support and guidance of the WFCCN, because we share the same philosophy in education, standards, research and publications.

HISTORICAL BACKGROUND OF THE WFCCN: The Formative Years

The World Federation of Critical Care Nurses was born on 30 October 2001 at a meeting 70 critical care nurses from 15 different during the 8th World Congress on Intensive Care in Sydney, Australia. At this meeting a number of prominent critical care nurses from around the world presented their ideas and views on how the many different critical care nursing organisations could cooperate and meet to expand their networks, ideas and activities globally. After some discussion and debate the meeting developed and endorsed a constitution that would form the World Federation of Critical Care Nurses (WFCCN). However there was a long “gestational” period which may be of interest to many...the story begins:

The history of formal international dialogue aimed at forming stronger international networks between critical care nurses and Critical Care Nursing Organisations (CCNOs).

1985 - 4th World Congress - Tel Aviv – A nursing organisation (Australia) first ask to be admitted to World Federation of Societies of Intensive Care and Critical Care Medicine.

1989 - 5th World Congress - Kyoto - Australia and USA applications accepted by WFSICCM. Sarah Sandford (USA) and Lorraine Ferguson (Australia) ask for a nursing position on the board of the WFSICCM.

1993 - 6th World Congress - Madrid - CCNOs from Australia, USA, Britain and Spain formally admitted to WFSICCM and a Nursing member was appointed to the board (Belinda Atkinson, England). Madrid Declaration on the Preparation of Critical Care Nurses announced and signed at this meeting. CCNOs pledge to improve international communication, collaboration and expansion.

1994 - AACN Global Connections Conference, Toronto. CCNO’s meet during this conference, share visions and pledge to improve international communication, collaboration and expansion.

1997 - 7th World Congress - Ottawa - CCNOs meet during this conference, share visions and pledge to improve international communication, collaboration and expansion.

2001 - 30 October, 70 critical care nurses from 15 different countries were represented at a meeting of nurses during the 8th World
Congress on Intensive Care in Sydney, Australia*. At this meeting they developed and endorsed a constitution to form the World Federation of Critical Care Nurses (WFCCN).

The inaugural Council were made up of:

Ged Williams (Australia) - Chair
Belle Rogado (Philippines) - Secretary
Bernice Budz (Canada) - Treasurer
John Albarran (United Kingdom) – Trade Liaison
Esther Wong (Hong Kong)
Debbie Kim (Korea)
Birte Baktoft (Denmark)
Gordon Speed (New Zealand)

KEY POSITION STATEMENTS OF THE WFCCN

The World Federation of Critical Care Nurses were informed that we had an important role in providing guidelines and advice on key nursing issues globally – two such issues were identified as workforce standards and education and training standards. Two such documents will be ready for final ratification of the WFCCN Council in August 2005.

DECLARATION OF BUENOS AIRES
(Position Statement on the Provision of Critical Care Nursing Workforce)

And

DECLARATION OF MADRID
(Position Statement on the Provision of Critical Care Nursing Education)

The first drafts of these position statements were distributed to member societies of the WFCCN between February 2004 and September 2004 and changes made following discussion and meeting of the WFCCN in Cambridge September 2004.

The second draft of these position statements were distributed to a wider audience including member societies of WFCCN, other international nursing and medicine organisations and individuals with an interest in critical care nursing between October 2004 and April 2005.

The third and final draft position statements encapsulated feedback from all responding stakeholders and were made available to all known interested parties in June 2005 for final comment prior to ratification of the WFCCN in August 2005.

The WFCCN have been discussing the relative merits of a position statement on the rights of the critically ill person. This is in early discussion and further research into existing statements by the United Nations, World Health Organisation and others are being investigated to determine if we should consider adopting an existing statement and supporting those or developing a specific statement in this area.
Connect has now been available on-line at www.connectpublishing.com since the beginning of 2004. To date the website has received 271,079 ‘hits’.

Connect is the official journal of the World Federation of Critical Care Nurses (WFCCN) and it is published in association with the European federation of Critical Care Nursing associations (EfCCNa).

Four issues of the journal are published annually, and all articles, including the archive, are available for free download.

The purpose of Connect is to provide a forum for critical care nurses around the world to share good practice. It aims to be the voice of critical care nurses world-wide. One of its founding principles is that of support. Connect aims to create a nurturing environment that enables all critical care nurses to have a voice. As such, the editors believe that all nurses have something valuable to contribute to Connect that others may learn from. For this reason, no articles are rejected on the basis of language, and the editors have undertaken to provide help to authors writing in a second language.

The main focus of Connect is clinical practice, and the editors are particularly keen to receive articles that describe or evaluate developments in nursing. The journal contains a mixture of articles, including descriptions of practice innovation, literature reviews, letters, conference reports, clinical skills guidelines, news items, research and, of course, information about developments in WFCCN.

In addition to formal articles the Connect website also provides a resource for critical care nurses for conference information, global news, internet website information, critical care association websites, and industry information.

An international Editorial Board has been established consisting of two Co-Editors (Australia and UK) and five Associate Editors (Australia, Denmark, Hong Kong, Norway, USA). The Editors are supported by a nineteen person International Advisory Board consisting of members from eighteen different countries (Austria, Belgium, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hong Kong, Iceland, Italy, Philippines, Mexico, Netherlands (2), New Zealand, Spain, South Korea, Sweden, Turkey, and UK). All member associations of WFCCN and EfCCNa have been invited to nominate a representative to serve on the International Advisory Board. In addition, five Peer Reviewers have been appointed, from two countries (Australia and Hong Kong).

Members of the Editorial Board and International Advisory Board have held one meeting in 2005, in the UK, during the BACCN/WFCCN conference. During this meeting a number of developments were planned (subject to funding), in particular, to make the Connect website multi-lingual. Some progress has been made to date: the site has now been translated into five further languages, and will go ‘live’ during 2005. Also, the system has now been set in place for all Connect articles to be made available in HTML as well as PDF format. This will reduce download time.

Further Editorial/International Advisory Board meetings are scheduled to be held in August 2005, during the WFCCN congress in Argentina, and November 2005, during the EfCCNa congress in The Netherlands. The Directors of Connect meet monthly for a teleconference.

The connections theme is developed throughout the journal and there are several regular features, to which all critical care colleagues – from anywhere in the world - are invited to contribute:

- Clinical Connections (practice: ideas, development, review articles, news, information, support, equipment)
- Global Connections (World news, information, exchange programmes)
- Internet Connections (useful web site information about critical care)
- Research Connections (research abstracts, news)
- Conference Connections (conference news, reports, adverts, information)

To date, five issues have been published, with a total of 26 articles. The majority of articles were clinically based:

- Clinical Connections 15
- Research Connections 5
- Global Connections 3
- Internet Connections 2
- Conference Connections 1

Subsequent to a suggestion made at the 2005 Editorial/International Advisory Board meeting, guidelines have now been put on the website for a new type of article: This is my unit (see: http://www.connectpublishing.com/subscription/ThisIsMyUnit.asp). The purpose of this type of article is to provide a forum for nurses working throughout the world to discuss their day-to-day working lives and activities. It will allow nurses to showcase their unit, the roles and activities of staff members and to describe any new developments and/or special features. Most articles will be relatively short, approximately 2000 words, and the use of photographs is encouraged.

Articles have been published from 10 different countries, mostly European:

- Australia 1
- Denmark 2
- Germany 1
- Hong Kong 4
- Netherlands 2
- New Zealand 1
- Norway 4 (2 joint with UK author)
- Turkey 1
- USA 1
- UK 9 (2 joint with Norwegian author)
- European (multi-author) 1
- World Federation 1

All articles submitted to Connect have been double-blind reviewed. The majority of authors required assistance from Editorial Board members to prepare their articles for publication in English. Most articles have been accepted for publication.

Connect is now indexed with CINAHL and is scheduled to be indexed with MEDLINE within the next two-three months.
Since the start of WFCCN it was obvious that WFCCN needed a presence on the internet. There were several reasons for this including need for dissemination of information between international members, promotion of the organization and the sponsors. Discussions about the WFCCN website were held in Paris during the EfCCNa conference in spring 2002. A temporary website was launched on the domain <wfcn.org>, registered in August 2002. During the WFCCN board meeting in Texas in May 2003, a strategy for a new website was made. The assignment to develop the new website was given to the current web spinner based on the structure discussed in Texas. The design of the new website was based on the new logo, and the website was launched in mid August 2003. The website has a 3 layer structure, with emphasis on simple navigation and user interface. The site consists of flat-file html pages linked together without an underlying database. All material must be entered on the site by the web spinner. This makes the content static, and updates have not been frequent.

The following report contains overall statistics and shows analyzed requests from 14th of August 2002 to 19th February 2005 (figures in parentheses refer to the 7-day period ending 20th February 2005). Successful requests: 96,345 (1,632). Average successful requests per day: 104 (233). Successful requests for pages: 35,199 (582). Average successful requests for pages per day: 38 (83)

The WFCCN website

Future website strategy

A possible solution to improve the WFCCN website is to redevelop the site based on a content management system (CMS) platform. A CMS would allow dynamic content, and WFCCN members to enter material directly on the website. With close to 100,000 requests since the start, the WFCCN website has established a position on the internet. User-based update of content, and interactivity between users in areas of the WFCCN website could be a strategy to improve substance.
CONFERENCE REPORT

1st WFCCN Congress
Cambridge UK,
September 2004

The 2nd BACCN and 1st WfCCN joint international conference has been declared as an outstanding success. This can be attributed to the high quality of poster and oral presentations delivered by nurses from around the world. The programme was highly stimulating, innovative and exciting, in part this was because of the wide range topics covering all aspects of critical care that were made relevant to critical care practice and the enthusiasm of presenters and delegates. Interestingly many of the international colleagues were impressed to see that the programme was entirely shaped by nurses for critical care nurses.

The delegates were also treated to some very inspirational and motivating plenary papers by Professor Julie Scholes and Dr Beverly Malone, General Secretary of the Royal College of Nursing.

Amongst the most profound and innovative presentations was a paper delivered by Michelle Ryder-Lewis and her associates, who were awarded the best oral presentation sponsored by Blackwell Publications. The paper entitled “Going home to die from Intensive Care: a celebration of life”. Michelle described how nursing staff at her ICU in Wellington, New Zealand, are directly involved with the family, community services in supporting patients to die at home. The judges were impressed by the quality of the presentation and the unique way that nurses were making a difference.

Julie Scholes (Editor) presenting Michelle Ryder-Lewis with best oral paper award and trophy, sponsored by Blackwell Publishing

The best poster, sponsored by BACCN, again had an international flavour. The poster entitled “Acute Coronary Syndromes in the University Centre, Ljubljana, Slovenia- A nursing clinical pathway” was prepared and presented by Marusa Bvar and colleagues. The poster was described as visually effective, and the content was concise with clear implications for practice.

The best student essay, a new innovation introduced by BACCN, attracted a number of entries that addressed a variety of subjects relevant to critical care practice. care nursing. Helen Beard, from Bury St Edmunds was chosen by a panel of experts as the best entry. She was presented with a £200 cheque for her manuscript “Does intermediate care minimise relocation stress for patients leaving the ICU?” This submission was part of Helen’s dissertation and will be published next year in Nursing in Critical Care.

It would be unfair and inappropriate not to pay tribute to all many colleagues who presented, as without their contribution the conference would not have been as enjoyable or as rewarding.

FUTURE CONGRESSES

The WFCCN has established a policy that they will sponsor an international congress each year. This will be done in association with one of our member organisations or with another World body who share our interests and goals, eg WFSICCM.

As mentioned in this report the first such event took place in Cambridge, United Kingdom in conjunction with the BACCN annual conference and as reported, this was a resounding success.

In August 2005 the WFCCN will co-host the 9th World Congress on Intensive Care with the WFSICCM in Buenos Aires, Argentina. The 3rd WFCCN Congress will be in Manila, Philippines in February 2006.

The 4th WFCCN Congress in 2007 and the 5th WFCCN Congress in 2008 will be determined at the meeting of WFCCN in August 2005. However it is encouraged that the successful host nation provide adequate support to the WFCCN Council members to attend and participate and that the selected country be in a different part of the world to previous congresses where possible. The 6th WFCCN Congress is anticipated to be with the 10th World Congress on Intensive care with WFSICCM in Florence, Italy.
APPENDIX

Constitution of the World Federation of Critical
Care Nurses
(Declaration of Sydney)

30th October, 2001

I. GENERAL PREREQUISITES

ARTICLE 1 TITLE, SITE AND HEAD OFFICES
1. The World Federation of Critical Care Nurses, abbreviated as WFCCN, is a federation of critical care nursing associations. The member associations are formally admitted into membership and have accepted the constitution of WFCCN.
2. The address for any formal correspondence to the WFCCN is with the secretary of WFCCN.

ARTICLE 2 DESCRIPTIONS AND DEFINITIONS
1. The WFCCN is a non-governmental and independent organisation.
2. A critical care nursing association is an association, society, or federation of critical care nurses. In countries where no such group exists, it is a separate critical care nurses section within a health professional association or a subgroup of the national nurses association which have in both cases its own constitutions, regulations and rules.

3. A critical care nurse is a person who holds a recordable or registered nursing qualification in their own country and contributes to the field of critical care nursing.
4. Critical care nursing is specialised nursing care of critically ill patients who have manifest or potential disturbances of vital organ functions. Critical care nursing means assisting, supporting and restoring the patient towards health, or to ease the patients' pain and to prepare them for a dignified death. The aim of critical care nursing is to establish a therapeutic relationship with patients and their relatives and to empower the individuals' physical, psychological, sociological and spiritual capabilities by preventive, curative and rehabilitative interventions.

ARTICLE 3 OFFICIAL LANGUAGE
1. The official language of the WFCCN is English.
2. Should there be any questions arising as to the meaning in translated documents, the meaning in the text written in the official language shall be predominant.

II. PURPOSE AND OBJECTIVES

ARTICLE 4 PHILOSOPHY
The philosophy of the WFCCN is to assist critical care nursing associations and nurses regardless of age, gender, nation, colour, religious beliefs or social background in the pursuit of the objectives of the WFCCN.
ARTICLE 5 PURPOSES

The purpose of the WFCCN is to link critical care nursing associations and nurses throughout the world, to strengthen the influence and contribution of critical care nurses to health care globally and to be a collective voice and advocate for critical care nurses and patients at an International level.

ARTICLE 6 OBJECTIVES

The objectives of the WFCCN are:

1. To represent critical care nurses and critical care nursing at an International level.
2. To improve the standard of care provided to critically ill patients and their families throughout the countries of the world.
3. To advance the art and science of critical care nursing in all countries throughout the world.
4. To promote co-operation, collaboration and support for critical care nursing organisations and individuals.
5. To improve the recognition given to critical care nursing throughout the world.
6. To maintain and improve effective co-operation between all health professionals, institutions, agencies and charities who have a professional interest in the care of critically ill patients.
8. To foster and support research initiatives that advance critical care nursing and patient/family care.
